LECTURES.

LINCOLN HALL. THE SPAULDING LECTURES. Invited by several preminent citizens of Washington REV. HENRY C. SPAULDING will deliver in Lincoln Hall his Popular and Instructive Course of

ILLUSTRATED LECTURES PAGAN AND CHRISTIAN ROME.

with an Introductory Lecture on THE DESTRUCTION OF POMPEH, on the EVENINGS OF JANUARY 9, 11, 13 15 AND 17, 1883

These Lectures have been received with great enthusi-san by large and cultivated audiences in Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philad lphia and Baltimere, and are highly commended for their thorough learning, pictur-esque description, and life-like portraiture of ancient society and life. They are not S creopticon shows, but genuine object lessons, in which the stereopticon is con-tingally employed by way of illustration. thrully employed by way of illustration.

The idustrations are shown in 1 issolving Views by means of a powerful Double Stereoution. The views alone would furnish a rich feast to the eve and mind, while the lectures without the views would be regarded as an important contribution to our knowledge of a cient life and art. Both together, blended as text and engraving in an illustrated book, furnish a oub e attraction, affording entertainment and instruction such as are seldom secured from the platform. SOCIETY NOTES.

The Speaker and Mrs. Kelfer held a large reception yesterday at the red parlor of the Ebbitt, which, as well as the corridor leading to it, and the rooms opening from the corridor, were put in festal trim for the occasion. A string band played softly in the main parlor. Miss Ella Keifer, of Yellow OFFICE OF THE MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE Springs, Ohio, a sister of the Speaker, assisted at the reception, as also did Mrs. Ben. Perley Poore. the reception, as also did Mrs. Ben. Perley Poore, Mrs. Paymaster Boggs, Mrs. Hoblitzell, a season a cluster of gift roses in her hand. Miss the Fitz John Porter bill. wore white albatross cloth, with fichu and cuffs trimmed with bows of black satin,-an effective Gress. Mrs. Haskell wore a black satin. Mrs. Boggs were an elaborate and beautiful dress of palest green, with white lace sleeves. Nearly all the Senators and Representatives, an unusually large number, who had called first at the Executive Manson, called also here, besides several foreign ministers, and many officials in the civil, milit ry an i naval services. A handsome collation was pread in the room above the reception parior. Mrs. Keffer will 1 old her first Wedn sday reception January 10th. The Iolanthe Club gave a very pleasant reunion at the residence of Mr. Theodore Sheckels last evening. There were present among others Misses McKnew, Susie and Lily Coombs, Miss Hopkins, of Baltimore; Miss Jones, Miss Royce, and Messrs Bernard and Charles Sims, Barry, lawcomb, Wood, and Bennett, of Colorado. Dancing and a bountiful supper completed the program of festivities. General and Mrs. Grant are expected this after-100n at General Beal's residence, where a large company have been invited to meet them this evening. Mrs. Frelinghuysen will not receive on Wednes-day, owing to the death of Minister Allen. Mrs. Senator Pendleton has now with her Miss silsbee, of Boston, as her guest. THE STAR ROUTE TRIAL. Proceedings Resumed To-day.

LITTLE TILT BETWEEN COUNSEL AT THE OPENING. star route trial was resumed. Chas. H. French, he sub-contractor on the route from Kearney to Kent, was again called to the stand for cross-examination. Mr. Henkle asked that Mr. Bliss should turn over to him a certain paper concerning the route upon which he wished to cross-examine the witness. Mr. Bliss not giving Mr. Henkle much satisfaction, Mr. Henkle intimated that Mr. Bliss' replies were disingenious, and that he was attempting to withhold testimony from the defense, and Mr. Bilss finally settled the matter, after there had been considerable talk, ty declaring that he did not have the paper Mr. Henkle wanted and did not remember having ever seen it. Thereupon Mr. Henkle applied for subræna duces tecum for Mr. Brewer, of the Post Office department, to produce all of the apers relating to the route under consideration. CROSS-EXAMINATION OF SUB-CONTRACTOR FRENCH. Mr. Wilson being confined to his home by illness, Mr. Henkle proceeded, in his place, with the cross-ex imination of the witness. A long discu sion sprang up as to whether the witness could be questioned as to his understanding of the contract, which took up a great part of Mr. French was cross-questioned at consider-Mr. Henkle, reading from the record, desired to have some remarks to which he objected stricken from the record, and made a motion to that effect. Judge Wylle stating that what the court said court not be stricken from the record, overruled the motion. An exception was noted. At one o'clock the usual recess was taken. AFTER RECESS. After recess Mr. Thomas S. Nightingale, of Loup City, Nebraska, formerly of the firm of Hale & Nightingale, lawyers, testified to having copied the petition sent by Miner to French, the original having been spoiled by the overturning of a bottle of ink. He testified that when the petition was signed the words "Schedule 18 hours," which now appears on the petition, were not there.

Mr. Ralph M. Grimes, postmaster at Kearney.

the Hamilton house, where they will remain until the funeral arrangements are perfected. The oldest son of the deceased arrived here this morning from New York, and another son, a resident of Boston, is expected to reach here sometime to-day. None of the funeral arrangements had been determined upon by the family at noon to-day, and none were to be until after the members of the family had held a consultation and heard what part the diplomatic corps desired to take in the obsequies. It was not known at the State department this morning whether the funeral of Minister E. H. Allen will be held to-morrow or the day after. Political Notes.

The blac': ballot democratic officials of New Haven, Conn., were yesterday sworn in.

At the democratic assembly caucus, at Albany last evening, Mr. Caapin, of Kings county, was nominated for speaker on the first formal ballot. The republican caucus nominated Theodore Roosevelt, of New York. The Tennessee senate organized yesterday by the election of B. F. Alexander, of Rutherford, speaker, and T. C. Long, of Madison, clerk. A sensation was caused by a passage in the prayer of Rev. T. A. Hoyt as follows: "From repudiation and from all forms of dishonesty, Good Lord deliver us." The house partially organized by elect-ing W. L. Ledgerwood, of Knox, speaker, and E. B. Wade clerk.

Judge Sharswood retired from the supreme court of Pennsylvania yesterday, and is succeeded as chief justice by Judge Mercur. Judge Michael Arnold took the place of Judge Briggs in the Philadelphia court of common pleas.

The democratic members of both houses of the Delaware legislature held caucusses last night and selected the following officers: speaker of the senate, Samuel B. Cooper: aneaker of the house, George P. Bates. The legislature convened to-day.

The democrats of the Pennsylvania legislature held a caucus last evening, and nominated John E. France speaker, and other officers of the house. The republican senators in caucus could not agree upon a candidate for president.

Franklin Edson, the new mayor of New York, took possession of the office yesterday. In his message he offers suggestions as to improvements in various departments, and in concluding speaks of the penal code and the recent efforts to enforce its provi, lons, strongly urging the proper observance of Sunday and saying caution will be observed in dealing with this important question.

T. J. Janett, readjuster, who at the last municipal election was elected mayor of Petersburg and who at the time of his election, and ever since has been a member of the city council, but who failed to qualify as mayor, resigned his seat in the council last evening for the purpose of qualifying as mayor, which office is now held by Colonel F. H. Archer, (democrat.) who, if Janett attempts to qualify, will care his right to do so in the courts. the penalty of forfeiture. They represent that this great industry is considerably affected by a threatened lower rate of duty on those important articles.

AT THE CAPITOL TO-DAY.

Senate Proceedings.

The president laid before the Senate a commu nication transmitting the report of the Mississippi river commission, with maps, etc. Ordered printed.

Several petitions were presented for the passage of the bill giving increased pensions to one-armed and one-legged soldiers. Mr. Pendleton presented memorials of the Cincinnati chamber of commerce and board of trade and transportation, in favor of the passage of the pending bonded whisky bill. Mr. Garland, from the committee on the judiciary, reported an original bill as a substitute for the bills referred to that committee, providing for the forfeiture of certain land grants to certain railroad companies. The bill is accompanied by a report. Mr. Garland, in presenting the report, remarked that this subject was a very important one, and that he would call up the bill as soon as the Fitz John Porter and the Presidential succession bills were out of the way.

Mr. Miller (Cal.), from the committee on foreign relations, reported favorably an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill making the United States consul at Tangier a consul general. Mr. Garland introduced a bill to authorize the commissioners of the Freedman's Saving and Trust company to examine and audit certain claims and pay certain dividends barred by the act of January, 1881. Referred to the committee Mr. Windom, from the committee on foreign re-lations, reported favorably the House bill respecting the administration of justice at Tunis.

Mr. Vest introduced a bill to repeal sections 1, 2 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 9, of the act amending the law in relation to immediate transportation of dutiable goods and for other purposes. Referred to the committee on finance. At the close of the morning hour the calendar was taken up

THE FITZ JOHN PORTER BILL. The bill for the relief of certain owners of the government service on the Chattahooche river during the war, was discussed by Messrs. Pugh

During the winter of '79-'80 numerous dissensions occurred between the captain and Collins on the subject of duty. On one occasion the captain told Collins if he was not satisfied he could report him to the Secretary, and he, the cap-tain, certainly would report him (Collins) on re-turn of the ship. The trouble cuiminated Decem-ber 7, 1880, when the captain suspended him.

AFTER A BEAR. Q.-On one occasion when Collins and others sighted about 9 o'clock, and Ninderman started in pursuit, followed by Newcomb, Collins, and myself. The bear distanced the party, and we saw there was no chance. Ninderman was 500 yards aread, running in his stocking feet. Mr. Newcomb came up with me, and we concluded there was no chance of getting the bear, but that Ninderman should be supported. I went back, and at 10 o'clock the ship was ready for inspection, and I reported three absent. I think the captain made no of others, revolutions are abscesses which end the order was issued that no one should leave the ship without permission

THE MONTHLY EXAMINATION OF SEAMEN. Q .- What led to the order that all the seamen should be examined naked once a month? A few moments later the captain came in and spoke to Mr. C. to the effect that it was strange he (Collins) would not obey his orders to exercise on the ice. Mr. C. stated that he was taking the noon observations, and the captain replied that it was strange it would take twenty minutes to make an entry, &c. Mr. Collins replied quickly that he didn't like being chased up in that way. The captain said the matter had gone far enough and told Collins to take off his coat. I immedi ately went below. The conversation which followed was loud, and I heard most of it. A long discussion followed, and it finally came to a point at which the disagreement took place and a con-tradiction was involved. I heard the captain say, "That is enough, sir; you have done your last duty in this ship." Mr. Collins left the cabin. The captain then called me and asked if I had heard the trouble. TWO CENTS.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—There is some idea of postponing M. Gambetta's funeral until the 10th instant, so Lieut. Danenhower Testifies as to the Unpleasantness Between De Long and Collins.

M. Gambetta's funeral until the 10th instant, so that the senate and chamber of deputies may attend in a body. It is estimated that 3,000 persons visited the house at Ville d'Avray yesterday. The people were admitted by groups of five or ten into a passage, whence they ascended to the small bedroom where the body is lying. The visitors included ministers, senators and other functionaries. The room is poorly furnished. The body lies on a small iron bedstead, completely covered by sheets, except the head, which rests on two pillows. The face is pale, and the hair grayer than formerly, and the beard entirely gray. M. Gambetta appears fifteen years older than he reality was. His triends seem utterly beside themselves, some aged men even weeping. There were a few some aged men even weeping. There were a few flowers on the foot of the bed.
